

A Home Care Story: Victor Pesek

We're There When You Need Us

Victor Pesek's wife Dorothy was confident about the rehabilitative care he would be receiving after his surgery. With Victor's office right in Weston Center, and as Wayland residents since 1957, they were well aware of Parmenter and its long-standing reputation.

Nonetheless, it was comforting to hear these unsolicited words from the nurse practitioner upon Victor's release from MGH in Boston: "Oh, you don't have to worry - you live in one of those towns that Parmenter covers."

As they'd expected, they've been thrilled with the care they've received from their Parmenter nurse, Linda Smith, so much so that Victor insisted that Linda be with him in the photo. They couldn't say enough about her thorough, thoughtful care and efficiency in helping Victor to a speedy recovery.

They were also very impressed when Physical Therapist, Cindy Brush, went through their home room by room, pointing out what should be changed to accommodate Victor's arrival home from the hospital. It was the little things like insisting that small rugs have a foam pad underneath that impressed Dorothy, and she immediately went out and got them.

Dorothy refers to Parmenter as a "town treasure". She said that as a long-time Wayland resident she's been aware of Parmenter for years and has friends that have used its services over the years. She said that to her, Parmenter has always just been there and she's taken it for granted, and now all of a sudden it's a part of their lives. The Peseks now know first hand what an important resource Parmenter is for the community.
